*Fry bread goes back 150 years. It began when the American government, driving the Native Americans off their land, only gave them flour, salt, lard, baking powder, and other meager rations during confinement and forced marches.

Today, Native Americans in many parts of the U.S. still cook fry bread. That they took these alien ingredients and made them into the food most identified with their culture today speaks to their resiliency. Fry bread, though not Native American, has become Native American. – Phoenix New Times

Bars

Postino Annex Wine Bar-see above

Got a hot date or want a classier night out with friends? Head to one of the most popular wine bars in the Valley, which has several other Arizona locations. On Mondays and Tuesdays, Postino offers a great deal after 8 p.m.: $20 for a bottle of wine and a bruschetta plank, plenty for two people. Happy hour goes until 5 p.m. daily, featuring $5 glasses of wine and pitchers of beer, and brunch starts at 9 a.m. on weekends.

14 min walk

Casey Moore's Oyster House-

Casey's is special for three reasons: an awesome wrap-around patio, a haunted legend and Jimmy Eat World-inspired fame. Make friends with the eclectic mix of bar patrons on the patio, which is lit with twinkle lights year-round. And enjoy the mellow atmosphere that encourages strangers to become drinking buddies. The Irish bar and restaurant is a hot spot to enjoy a craft beer or a stiff drink, and it sports a Blarney stone in the men's outdoor bathroom.

19 min walk, 4 min drive

850 S Ash Ave, Tempe, AZ 85281

Four Peaks Brewery-see above

The popular brewery's beers can be found all over the Valley, with selections including the flagship Kilt Lifter, flavorful Hop Knot and sweet Arizona Peach. This original location is located in a 100-year old creamery, and features permanent selections in addition to seasonal picks, and you can see the tanks and fermenters from your table in the sports bar. The food is as good as the beer: green chile pork poutine, blackened salmon BLT and Italian beef beer bread are some of our favorites. Four Peaks is a short walk from the light rail, so you always have a designated driver.

18 min walk, 5 min drive

Cornish Pasty (and The Beast) British Pub/dive bar-see above

Hip, railroad-car-size establishment specializing in Cornwall's answer to the potpie, the pasty (pronounced pass-tee). Go down the back hallway to The Beast Bar and you'll find interesting characters and sometimes more interesting music... It's a 90's dive bar flashback.

20 min walk, 6 min drive

The HandleBar

A bike-centric modern American beer garden with a rotating selection of 24 draft beers, 50 can, bomber and bottle options including local, American and European craft beers.

20 min walk, 6 min drive

680 S Mill Ave #109, Tempe, AZ 85281

Rula Bula Irish Pub-see above

This longtime Mill Avenue favorite draws crowds with its casual vibe, huge patio and live music. You'll find energetic bands on weekends, when the patio is often full, with sparkling lights and plenty of room to mingle. Happy hour runs daily from 3 to 6 p.m.

22 min walk, 7 min drive

Taste of Tops

This cozy bar is for beer connoisseurs or anyone who wants a break from Keystone and Natural Ice. Taste of Tops is attached to Tops Liquors, which features an extensive collection of beer, wine and liquor, including many hard-to-find varieties. There are 30 rotating taps, 20 wines-by-the-glass and 600 bottles and cans, including some of the best craft beers around.

403 W University Dr, Tempe, AZ 85281

Yucca Tap Room

As popular among artsy ASU kids and hip adults, Yucca Tap Room has been around for more than 40 years and presents live music every day. In the main room, the dance floor can get packed and a wide variety of live bands, DJs and other acts performing. Next door is more lowkey in the lounge where you can play a round of pool and try a craft beer or unique spirit. The food menu features Asian-inspired dishes including baos, burgers and Thai chicken wings.
